

To CISHRP

Congratulations on your website, I am sure that it will prove to be a valuable resource for Caymanian HR Professionals. I have had the opportunity to meet Lois, Mario, Pat and Samantha during my visits and you all have my best wishes. I note that my colleague, Linda McCormack, features on your website.

As you are aware I am working with Graham Wood and Clyde Linwood with a view to starting another Masters programme in HRM in Cayman from January 2004. We have had considerable interest from the Public Sector and I am hopeful that the programme will run again. We are, however very low on private sector interest and whilst I appreciate the time and financial commitment for both students and their employers I have no doubt that the programme makes a real difference to those who study it and also further enhances professional and business focused HR practice in Cayman.

We would be delighted to have further applications from the under-represented private sector as this will enhance the learning experience for all involved.

As well as the being internationally recognized the MSc HRM programme also leads to membership of the CIPD after successful completion of the first 2 years. Interested professionals can contact Clyde or Graham for further details. The programme is aimed at HR professionals and other managers who have significant responsibility for managing people. The normal entry requirement is a Bachelors, or in some cases extensive experience and a capability to study at Masters level.

With best wishes

Stephen
